4th May 2020

Further coronavirus death in Oxfordshire as England total rises

By Erin Lyons Reporter

A FURTHER 204 people who tested positive for the coronavirus have died, bringing the total number of confirmed reported deaths in hospitals in England to 21,384.

The latest figures, measured as of 5pm on Sunday, include one patient in Oxfordshire's hospitals bringing the confirmed hospital death toll in the county to 146.

Patients across England were aged between 26 and 101 years old, with three of the 204 patients (aged between 41 and 58 years old) having no known underlying health condition.