TO FREEDOM
NELSON MANDELA

A long, narrow banner made of green and blue fabric, decorated with small white and pink flowers. A small white card with text is attached to the right side. The banner is displayed against a stone wall.

A large, elaborate floral arrangement is displayed against a background of silver and gold foil. The arrangement features a variety of flowers, including yellow, white, purple, and blue roses, lilies, and baby's breath. The flowers are densely packed and arranged in a cascading, asymmetrical style. The background consists of a silver foil surface on the left and a gold foil surface on the right, with a dark, textured material at the bottom. The overall composition is vibrant and festive.

A bouquet of flowers is displayed in a black vase. The arrangement includes a large white rose in the center, surrounded by yellow tulips, purple delphiniums, and white baby's breath. Two tall, slender stems of white flowers rise from the bouquet. In the background, a book with the title "THE ART OF..." is visible. The entire scene is set against a dark, textured background.

He wishes for the Cloths of Heaven

Had I the heavens' embroidered cloths,
Enwrought with golden and silver light,
The blue and the dim and the dark cloths
Of night and light and the half-light,
I would spread the cloths under your feet:
But I, being poor, have only my dreams;
I have spread my dreams under your feet;
Tread softly because you tread on my dreams.

To you who enter this Chapel
Know that the Lord Christ is here in His holy Sacrament
Kneel then and adore him: and pray for thyself for those who minister and worship here: nor forget the Souls of the faithful departed.
