

A photograph of four elderly women sitting at a long table in a room, possibly a community center or a workshop. They are all focused on their work, which appears to be related to pottery or a similar craft. The woman on the far left is wearing a white sleeveless top and glasses. The woman next to her is wearing a grey sweater and glasses. The woman in the middle is wearing a blue patterned top and glasses. The woman on the far right is wearing a light blue shirt and a patterned vest, and is also wearing glasses. The table is covered with various tools and materials, including a jar of white powder and a small yellow container. In the background, there is a blue door with a sign that says "YOU" and a poster on the wall. The room has a warm, indoor lighting.
