

THE ARTISTS

ANN MANLY AND DENNIS HARRISON exhibit a collection of their new watercolours, deriving from travels in France, Venice, Greece and the United Kingdom. About 90 works will be shown. Wherever possible, they paint directly from the subject or from a sketch made of it, so as to capture the immediate light and atmosphere and in general they work in pure watercolour with transparent colours.

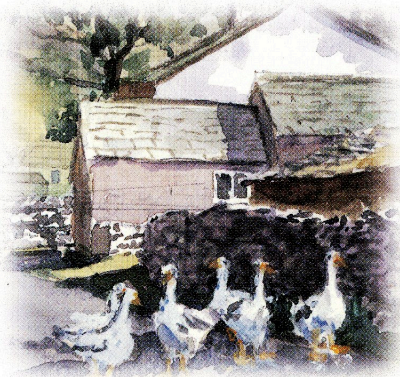

John Ruskin, painting in Venice (already deteriorating in his time), said he was endeavouring "to trace the lines of this image before it be forever lost." Ann and Dennis, painting the fast disappearing old buildings of the Dordogne and the Lot and of Greece and the crumbling houses and palaces of Venice, have tried here to follow in his footsteps.

Their Studio is in Bampton, Oxfordshire.
